- your baggage is lost or delayed

This insurance is available to the Primary Cardholder with an HSBC Mastercard, as an option (for a fee), as long as you are under age 65. Emergency travel medical insurance does not apply to travel in Cuba.

Emergency travel medical, trip cancellation, trip interruption, and baggage delay or loss insurance are subject to limitations and exclusions as stated in the Certificate of Insurance. Emergency travel medical insurance

This insurance covers eligible medical expenses which arise due to a medical emergency. For example, eligible medical expenses may include: emergency hospital, ambulance and medical expenses; private duty nursing expenses; emergency air transportation or evacuation; professional services; emergency dental expenses; transportation to the bedside; return of deceased; additional hotel and meal expenses; and return of vehicle.

Emergency travel medical insurance automatically applies to the first 17 days of a trip. You and your spouse (under age 65 at the time of departure) are insured, as well as your dependent children while traveling with you or your spouse, to a maximum of $1,000,000 per person. It does not cover expenses arising from:

- a medical emergency while travelling in Cuba
- pre-existing conditions or ignoring the recommendation of a doctor
- any other limitations and exclusions stated in the Certificate of Insurance.

Each insured person must be a permanent resident of Canada and covered by a provincial or territorial Government Health Insurance Plan. This insurance only covers amounts greater than the expenses covered by your Government Health Insurance Plan or any other insurance or reimbursement program. Coverage stops once your condition is stable or you can return to Canada for treatment.

Trip cancellation insurance

If you or your spouse (under age 65) is required to cancel a trip due to a covered cause, you will be reimbursed eligible expenses to a maximum of $2,000 per Account. For example, a covered cause occurs if:

- you, your spouse, an immediate relative, or your travel companion become sick, injured, or dies
- involuntary job loss
- default of your travel provider
- extreme weather delay

Coverage starts from the time you purchase a trip and ends at the trip's scheduled departure time.

Trip interruption insurance

While on a trip, if you or your spouse (under age 65) is required to change your scheduled return date to a later date due to a covered cause, you will be reimbursed the extra cost of one-way economy airfare to a maximum of $2,000 per Account. For example, a covered cause occurs if you, your spouse, an immediate relative or travel companion accidentally die, or become sick or injured, and the attending physician recommends a travel delay.

Coverage starts after the scheduled departure date and lasts until the scheduled return date.

Baggage delay or loss insurance

If baggage, including personal contents, is lost or damaged during a trip, you will be reimbursed to a maximum of $750 per insured person (and maximum of $500 per item). This coverage also includes up to $200 for the purchase of necessities required by a delay of your checked-in baggage of 12 hours or more. This insurance does not cover certain types of loss or damage. For example, it does not cover:

- loss or damage due to normal wear and tear
- confiscation of your luggage by authorities
- loss or damage to certain items (such as contact lenses, cell phones, computers, jewellery or camera equipment contained in your checked-in baggage, and business equipment or materials).
